The only true bright spot of another woeful Pirates’ season was the play and production of Bryan Reynolds. Along with hitting over .300, Reynolds, one of two Pirates’ All Stars (Adam Frazier the other), clubbed 24 homers, drove home 90, collected 35 doubles, and stroked 169 base hits. As a team, the Pirates were last in the NL with 124 home runs. They hit .236 (12th)...Reliever Chris Stratton had the most wins on the pitching staff (7). JT Brubaker (5 victories) posted 129 K’s, tops on the staff.
