

STOLEN BASE CHARTS

Obtain a random number and refer to the chart, using the SP rating of the man or men involved. If the chart indicates the player does not steal, he simply holds base. On double steal, defense indicates which runner it will try for. On an error on double steal, second runner moves the same as the first.

RUNNNERS ADVANCING ON BASE HITS

Runners advance one base for a single off the batter’s card (two bases if off pitcher’s card), or two bases for a double and three bases for a triple. However, the offense has the option of trying to advance runners extra bases on the hits, such as two on a single or three on a double. If such an attempt is to be made, use the proper chart and refer to both the OBR of the lead runner and the THROW rating of the outfielder involved in the play.

2B to catcher on double to right

WHEN TWO MEN ARE OUT: Add 20 to all safe chances as runners are off on contact.

SECONDARY ADVANCE: When a play is made on a runner who is advancing to either home from second or first to third on singles, the batter automatically takes second base if his OBR is A or B.

DEFENSE OPTION PLAY CHART

Offense decides whether to send runner on third to home. The DEFENSE has option of either making play at home or allowing runner on third to score...retiring batter at first. IF RUNNER COMING HOME and defense TRYING FOR runner at home:

New Random Number
Runner Rating	Runner Safe	Runner Out
OBR A	11 to 48	51 to 88
OBR B	11 to 42	43 to 88
OBR C	11 to 35	36 to 88
OBR D	11 to 32	33 to 88
OBR E	11 to 28	31 to 88

OBR refers to runner on third. Batter safe on fielder’s choice when play made at home for runner.

When in effect, do not go through PB selection, but obtain random number and read result directly from chart...using proper rating for H&R found on the batter card. Not usable with runner on third.

ADVANCING ON FLY BALL OPTION

The OUT CHARTS call for the automatic advance on fly outs, but often you may wish to try and advance a runner. If so, use the table below. When a play is made on the advance attempt, all other runners advance.

Runner Advancing On Fly Out	Outfielder Throw Rating
	T2	T3	T4	T5
OBR A	11 to 48	11 to 41	11 to 35	11 to 26
OBR B	11 to 45	11 to 36	11 to 27	11 to 24
OBR C	11 to 42	11 to 33	11 to 24	11 to 21
OBR D	11 to 36	11 to 26	11 to 21	11 to 18

OBR E cannot try advance. If Fly Out is deep, add 20 to safe chances.
This chart is OPTIONAL.

Only the numbers found below are only used when the element of LEFT versus RIGHT is employed.
Other numbers are unchanged in the results. This chart is OPTIONAL.

15: Foul to first

PITCHING ADJUSTMENT CHART

The Pitching Adjustment Chart comes into play only in the SEVENTH inning and only when a pitcher is working on a SHUTOUT. For example, if a pitcher has allowed one run or more (earned or unearned) through six innings, he is not eligible to use the chart. However, if a pitcher has not allowed a run through six innings, he is eligible to use the chart. In using the chart, certain FAC numbers (off either hitter or batter's card) may be changed from HITS to OUTS. After obtaining a random FAC number, check the chart - under the proper inning - to see if the hit is converted to an out. ALL OUTS ARE POP OUTS AND RUNNERS HOLD.

Inning Now In	Random Number	Pitcher's Card	Batter's Card
7 th	16	Score F2	No Change
8 th	16, 17	Score F3	Score F4
9 th	16, 17, 18	Score F6	Score F1
9th	BD	Score F1	Score F2

EXAMPLE: Pitcher has a shutout in the 8th, and batter has result on his card and random number 17 appears. Instead of the result being a hit, the PITCHING ADJUSTMENT CHART changes the result to an out.

WHEN A RUN IS ALLOWED BY A PITCHER WHO IS USING THE PITCHING ADJUSTMENT CHART, HE NO LONGER IS ELIGIBLE AND PLAY RETURNS TO THE NORMAL PROCEDURE.
