Offense: Ken Whisenhunt would prefer a more run-oriented attack this season, but will be opting for a more freewheeling pass-heavy attack with 37 year old, naturally aggressive style, QB Kurt Warner. RB Edgerrin James is certainly serviceable and has great vision and is adept at avoiding tackles in the back field, but he seldom breaks tackles at the second level. WR Boldin and Fitzgerald are as good a combination as there is in the league, but keeping them healthy has been a challenge. Neither WR has great speed, but both have big-play capability. OL starting lineup returns intact, and coaches are expecting considerable improvement. Defense: Cards use a 3-4 base scheme, although they morphed into a 4-3 during nickel situations. The Cardinals do have some depth up front, that could keep the starters fresh. LB Three free-agent signings have turned this group from a weakness into a strength, provided some aging vetrans stay healthy. Secondary is lead by SS Adrian Wilson. The entire defense is designed around his skills.

Offense: Steelers like to run a spread shotgun passing attack with a two-TE , one-back power running game. QB , Ben Roethlisberger is one of the games best. He's especilly dangerous rolling to his right and buying time. After the losing LG, Alan Faneca the Steelers have concerns at all five offensive line postions. The running game is based more on RB's with straight line speed than power. WR's are good and run great routes and Hines Ward is one of the games best blockers. Defense: Coordinator Dick LaBeau retains the traditional 3-4 base defense and continue to use a aggressiveness and disguised zone blitz to pressure opposing quarterbacks.DL is old and needs improvements.LB postion has the best young talent on the team and is the core of the defense. But is in transition, an evolution that began last year. DB pro bowl Troy Polamalu needs to be healthy to make to secondary efficient, because there are not many play makers in the secondary.
